Proud to support our local Horley carnival 2017

Specialising in groundwork for small construction companies and residential clients, we'll help you get the job done on time!

Foundations to floors, catch pits to concrete, drainage to dykes, we're your local specialists. We'll reliably oversee your groundwork project from start to finish, with minimum mess and maximum efficiency.

We work closely with muck away and concrete companies to ensure a seamless service and best value. Our grab lorries always arrive empty and leave full and we are happy to offer the keenest possible prices.

INSTALL

An unusual sunken trampoline installation for client garden

NEW BUILD

New build groundwork preparation, demolishing an existing bungalow and creating new foundations

EXTENSION

We can liaise with building control, dig the foundations and prepare the site

GARDEN

Designed by a client, this little oasis incorporates different finishes for added interest. See the Katzeure rollers around the perimeter to keep pets safe

Horley Carnival

ROUTE

WELCOME

This year's theme is 'The Wonders of the Sea' so we're expecting some very interesting and innovative floats in the parade.

The parade will form in the Victoria Road car park and, leaving at 12.30 pm, travel to the A23 Rec via the town centre where we expect it to arrive around 1.00 pm.

The full parade route can be found in this programme.

The fancy dress competition will be judged in conjunction with the parade floats before the parade sets off. There will also be a prize for the best stall which supports the Carnival theme.

Two of the four bands, before joining the parade, will be performing in the pedestrian precinct and outside Costa Coffee.

There will be a full programme of arena events starting at 12.00 pm and running throughout the afternoon.

A first for Horley Carnival this year will be an evening fireworks display sponsored by Beach's Funfair which will start at approximately 9.45 pm. It's free to attend.

I would like to acknowledge the hard work put in by the organising team: Horley Lions, 41 Club, East Surrey Guides, Susy Radio, Horley Town Council, Chamber of Commerce and Alex Goddard. Please take the time to visit the stalls around the ground, many of which are from these and other community groups.

Please note that the list of parade participants, arena events and stall holders is correct at time of press and is subject to later additions and cancellations.

I would like to thank our many sponsors who include Gatwick Airport Ltd, Reigate & Banstead Borough Council Councillors, local organisations and individuals listed in the 'thank you' page and of course, our local companies who have sponsored our special carnival programme.

Thank you for supporting your Carnival.

The largest ocean could hold all the continents and almost all the other oceans! Do you know which one it is?

2 The remotest point in the ocean, furthest from any land, is 2,688km away from the nearest shore. This point has a special title, named after a Jules Verne character. Do you know what it's called?

3 Half of all the oxygen we breathe is produced in the ocean. The vast majority comes from tiny single-celled creatures that live near the surface and can photosynthesise. Do you know what they're called?

4 The deepest point of the ocean can be found in the Pacific, and is a mind-boggling 11km deep! If Mount Everest was dropped inside, its peak would still be over a mile underwater. Do you know the name of this terrifying trench?

5 The Great Barrier Reef, found off the coast of Australia, is the largest living structure on Earth. It's made up of over 2,900 individual reefs and stretches for over 2,300km! Do you know what out-of-this-world place the Great Barrier Reef can be seen from?

6 The biggest animal on earth can be found in the ocean. Do you know what it is?

MERMAID LEGENDS

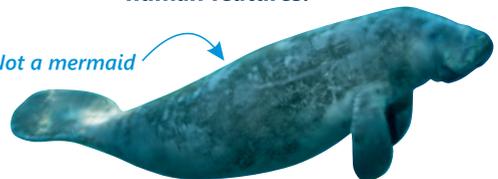

can be found in almost every culture!

One of the earliest is of an ancient Syrian goddess called Atargatis, whose beauty was so great and unchangeable that when she tried to turn herself into a fish, her top half stayed human.

Greek mythology has the Nereids, female spirits of the sea, who were kind, beautiful and helpful, often saving sailors from drowning.

Mermaid sightings are usually manatees and dugongs – large sea mammals with smooth skin that, from a distance and among the swell of the sea, could be mistaken for having human features.

Not a mermaid

Eyes

Nares (fish nostrils)

This bizarre creature is called a barreleye fish! It may be facing forwards, but those green eyes inside its transparent head are looking straight up, searching for prey above. It lives deep in the ocean, in almost total darkness, and uses its incredible rotating eyes to look up or forwards as it hunts and eats jellyfish and small animals.

95% of the Earth's oceans are unexplored. We have better maps of Mars than we do of the ocean floor!

It's estimated that for every species of marine life we know of, at least three are still waiting to be discovered

Weird & Wonderful

24 cm

A new type of seadragon was found only two years ago, despite living just off the coast of Southern Australia! The ruby seadragon is closely related to seahorses.

This stunning little jellyfish is immortal! Measuring less than half a centimetre, these transparent jellyfish can reverse the aging process and turn themselves back to a polyp whenever they get old, damaged or even just hungry. They then multiply and form new, identical jellyfish that can do it all over again in just a few weeks – making them essentially immortal!

The average depth of the ocean is about 3,688 metres. As light can't travel further than 200 metres below the ocean's surface, that means most of our planet is in constant, total darkness!

Ocean life can thrive in the most extreme conditions. Scientists have found creatures living without light or oxygen, under ice floes and on the side of active underwater volcanoes!

Sharks are a vital part of our ocean ecosystem and have been around since dinosaurs roamed the earth.

At the top of the food chain, they manage the balance of ocean life by keeping fish stocks healthy. By eating ill and weak fish, they stop the spread of disease and strengthen the gene pool. By eating smaller predators, they ensure species farther down the food chain can't be over-eaten.

Sadly, sharks are in danger of extinction. They're being caught faster they can reproduce – 90% of large sharks are already gone, and every year 100 million sharks are killed for their fins, meat, skin or teeth. The worst culprit is shark fin soup – a tasteless, nutrition-less broth made by cutting the fins off sharks while they're still alive and tossing them back into the ocean where, unable to swim, they die.

Sharks Need Your Help!

Sharks don't like the taste of humans! That's why so few shark attacks are fatal – after one taste they realise we aren't seals and spit us back out

Greenland Sharks can possibly live for over 500 years! They live in water that's just above freezing and are estimated to grow less than one cm ever year

The largest fish species is the Whale Shark, which can grow to over 12 metres long! It only eats tiny creatures like plankton and fish eggs

Sharks are friends, not food!

Did you know... sharks are crucial to the health of coral reefs? Without sharks, the small fish that eat the reef algae would be over-preyed by larger fish, and the algae would overwhelm the coral and kill it.

Be a shark ambassador

Help spread the word! The perception that sharks are mindless killing machines is a huge part of why they're in trouble. Let others know that our sharks are an important species and our oceans would be a wasteland without them managing the seas.

Avoid any establishments which serve shark fin soup, and let them know why

Choose MSC certified tinned fish – sharks are regularly accidentally caught and killed by fisheries producing tuna

What else is in our sea?

12.7 million tonnes of plastic end up in our oceans each year. That's a truck load of rubbish every minute!

Wet wipes, sweet wrappers, plastic bottles, bags, microbeads, shoes, oil, rubbish and even broken fishing equipment can be found in our lovely waters, ending up in our food chain and on our dinner plate. Most of this sea litter comes from land-based waste that's discarded without thought for where it ends up. Sadly, these plastic sea enemies can now be found in every corner of our waters, from our beaches to remote sea shores to Arctic ice. Big bits of plastic choke and entangle sea creatures. Small bits of plastic and chemicals are eaten by sea creatures such as plankton, which cannot break the plastic down. And the more they eat, the more toxic they become. These tiny animals are eaten by bigger creatures, which are eaten by even bigger creatures, and the concentration of chemicals becomes stronger every time. Polar bears, who eat seals (who eat penguins, who eat the fish, who eat the tiny plankton) can have contamination levels 3 billion times higher than the water they swim in. Be a sea hero by thinking before you throw and encouraging others to think too!

More sea friendly tips below...

Think before you throw! Protect the wonders of the sea!

Be a sea hero

Say no to plastic Microbeads

Microbeads are a sea's worst enemy. Check any products called deep-cleaning or exfoliating – they might contain plastic microbeads. Facial scrubs and toothpaste can sneak in up to 300,000 of these tiny pellets, which are washed down the sink and into the sea. Look for scrubs containing natural ingredients such as apricot kernels.

Reduce, recycle

Think about all the plastic, disposable items you might use and discard in a day, like cotton buds and toothbrushes. Are there any reusable alternatives you could use? Look for glass, metal or bamboo versions that are kinder to the environment and can be reused or recycled.

Choose natural fashion

Polyester, nylon and acrylic fabrics shed thousands of plastic microfibrils when they go through the laundry. These slip through filtration systems, ending up in the ocean and eventually the fish we consume. Invest in clothes made with natural fibres such as linen, organic cotton, even soy or hemp! These have a smaller impact on the environment both before and after wearing. It's a win win!

Use a reusable bag

Carry reusable bags and plastic bags. Any plastic bags you have can be reused as liners or recycled.

TOO MANY FISH?

90% of the ocean's fish are fully or over-fished – meaning they are being caught faster than they can breed. The consequences are devastating for the oceans, our food stocks and the air we breathe. Healthy oceans with a balanced variety of species absorb half the CO2 we produce, but this balance is being disrupted through overfishing large predators and killing many more as bycatch.

Fish stocks do rebound quickly if given the chance – but that requires good sea management and choosing to eat a variety of fish from sustainable sources, rather than overfishing certain species.

Our free safety device
keeps vulnerable people gas safe in their own homes

Locking cooker valve

The simple safety device is fitted to existing gas cooker pipework. When the valve is locked, the gas supply to the cooker is stopped. This eliminates the risk of the cooker being unintentionally turned on or left on. The carer or relative can easily turn the valve on and off when the cooker is required.

We manage the network that distributes natural and green gas to over 5.9 million homes and businesses across the south of England and Scotland.
